Hanover Trustees Try Out New Fire Truck

Hanover Township received its new fire truck Sunday and the trustees and volunteer firemen immediately put it through successful tests.

The truck, which carries 800 gallons of water and can pump it at the rate of 500 gallons a minute, was purchased from the Central Fire Equipment Co., Manchester, Mo., with funds obtained through a one-mill levy approved by township voters three years ago. The truck cost around $14,000.

It will be stationed in Hanover township. The township's first truck, acquired in 1946, will be transferred to Guilford Lake as soon as the township fire house there is completed.

Hanover Township firemen will meet again Tuesday night for a

Successfully Re-Enters Atmosphere

Jupiter Nose Cone Recovered by Army

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Jupiter intermediate range missile—a project the Army almost lost five months ago—apparently is the first ballistic weapon to solve the re-entry challenge.

Army rocket men at the nation's missile test center agreed the re-entry success was due to an almost perfect shot of the mighty Jupiter shortly after midnight Sunday.

Some 1/2 hours after the launching of the huge nose cone—the first full-sized warhead ever mounted on a Jupiter IRBM—was plucked out of the Atlantic by frogmen and the crew of a Navy auxiliary submarine rescue ship.

First reports indicated the re-entry test was a complete success.

The precious nose cone was taken to Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., where Army scientists will study its intricate instruments to learn the secrets of re-entering the earth's atmosphere without burnout after a cruise through space.

It is the first time a full-scale ballistic missile nose cone has been recovered intact. The only other recovery came last Aug. 8

Lisbon Man Held On Bad Check Count

EAST LIVERPOOL — A Lisbon man was held for the grand jury under a $500 bond today after pleading guilty in municipal court to two charges of writing a check with intent to defraud.

William G. Low, 5 1/2 S. Park St., was arrested Saturday afternoon in the Potters Bank & Trust Co. here where he was attempting to cash a check.

The charges allege Low delivered two checks for $20 each drawn on the Potters Bank & Trust Co. to the D. M. Ogilvie & Co. on Thursday and Friday, knowing he had no funds in the bank.

Police were called to the bank about noon Saturday where Low was attempting to cash a $20 check. He was taken into custody on an intoxication charge.

In addition to being held for the grand jury, Low was fined $10 and costs on the drunk charge by Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw.

Police said they were awaiting word from Steubenville on whether Low is wanted there on a bad check charge.

O'Neill to Call Special Session of Legislature

De Gaulle Hits Present Party Rule in France

Outlines Conditions For Assuming Power At News Conference

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle today condemned the present position of political parties in France and said their continued regime could accomplish nothing.

Speaking to a packed news conference to lay down his terms for assuming power in France, the wartime hero said a party regime could lead to no accomplishments for France.

He said France's future and past are entwined with that of Algeria, which is now in near revolt against the current Cabinet in Paris.

De Gaulle said he is ready to head the government of the French Republic as he did in a previous great national crisis.

He described himself as "a man alone belonging to nobody but belonging to all."

He made a slashing attack on the French political parties, which he said had betrayed the country.

Recalls Postwar Action

He recalled that he took power legally in postwar France after returning here with the Allied armies.

De Gaulle said he had kept silent until the moment when he felt he could serve the country.

The general opened his news conference of nearly 700 people with a brief statement. He then said he would answer questions only concerning French institutions and relationships with Algeria.

Referring to the last four years in North Africa, he said the present situation could lead to an extremely grave national crisis.

"But it can also be the start of a kind of resurrection," the general said.

He said that in "this moment of grave confusion all should be aware that the party regime could not and would not solve the enormous problems confronting France—the association of France with the peoples of Africa, and within the communities living in Algeria."

Caused by Regime

De Gaulle said the fighting in Algeria and the boiling emotional fever there grew out of the failure of the regime in Paris.

He continued: "We are going into a diplomatic Dien Bien Phu."

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Government forces held control again today in the streets of Tripoli after a weekend of bitter fighting between loyalists and insurgent Moslem nationalists.

At least 60 persons were reported killed in the bloodiest fight of Lebanon's internal strife. Government forces finally stormed through the twisting streets of the northern coastal city to end the fray.

Another reported factor was an order by Rachid Karami, a top opposition leader, for his forces to stop fighting because casualties were growing.

Occurs at Casablanca Airport

Belgian Airplane Crash Fatal to 65

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—Sixty-five persons died in flames Sunday when a Belgian Sabena airliner crashed while landing for repairs to a bad engine. The plane smashed through a building and exploded in a tower of flames at Casablanca's Cazes Airport.

Four passengers escaped by plunging through a hatchway seconds before the four-engine DC6B blew up.

Forty-one of the dead passengers were Belgians. Most of them were returning to the Belgian Congo after vacations in their homeland and visits to the world fair in Brussels.

A British family of five and a Belgian family of five perished together.

After leaving Lisbon the pilot radioed that one of his engines was vibrating and that he was stopping at Casablanca for repairs.

With firemen and ambulances waiting along the runway, the plane nosed down. But its approach was bad. Eyewitnesses said the pilot gunned the engines to pull up but the plane did not respond.

The air liner missed the runway, plowed through a military installation, hurtled 50 yards and came to a stop against another airport structure. Some of the field's firefighting equipment was destroyed in the first building hit.

Immediately the passenger door burst open and four passengers leaped out. Then the plane exploded. It all happened too fast for the firemen and rescue workers.

Officials said the survivors owed their lives to passenger Edward Pilaet. He tore off his seat belt and flung the passenger door open.

Cardinal Stritch Suffers Stroke

Bulletin Reports Condition as Grave

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch, whose right arm was amputated three weeks ago, suffered a stroke today. Word reaching the Vatican was that his condition was grave.

The 70-year-old Roman Catholic Archbishop of Chicago previously had been recovering well from the amputation which was made necessary by a blood clot in the arm.

Sunday he had celebrated Mass for the first time since the operation.

The cardinal was stricken again early today but by noon had recovered consciousness. A source close to Vatican authorities said he had improved slightly, "can talk again and can recognize people."

A medical bulletin said, "Prognosis is reserved for the present," meaning that the doctors would not forecast the outcome of the cardinal's latest attack.

A medical bulletin issued by Dr. Ralph Bergen, the cardinal's personal physician from Chicago, and Italian Dr. Filippo Rocchi said: "His Eminence Cardinal Stritch, prelate of the Congregation for Propagation of the Faith, during the early hours of Monday, May 19, suffered a cerebral vascular accident."

"There is a weakness of the muscles of his right leg and face. 'Prognosis is reserved for the present.'"

The cardinal's personal aides said they could not immediately give any fuller information on the stroke.

The prelate is still at the Rome clinic where he underwent the amputation April 28, but in recent days he had been spending part of each day at Chicago House, the residence headquarters for priests and students from Chicago studying in Rome.

Governor Wants Ohio to Extend Jobless Relief

To Ask For Maximum Of 39 Weeks of Aid For State's Workers

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill announced here today that he will call a special session of the Ohio General Assembly some time after June 1.

At that time he will ask the legislature to extend unemployment compensation benefits to a maximum of 39 weeks. Unemployed workers now can draw benefits for only 26 weeks.

Gov. O'Neill said he discussed the proposal with House Speaker Roger Cloud and Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem before coming to Florida to attend the fifth annual Governors' conference.

Other matters will be brought up at the special session, the governor said. He would not disclose what he had in mind.

Gov. O'Neill said he would call the special session to protect the state unemployment compensation system from federal interference.

If the legislature does extend the benefit period it will mean that persons who have exhausted their benefits and still are unemployed may draw the additional 13 weeks. Ohio law provides for a maximum of $39 weekly.

In announcing the special session, the governor made this formal statement:

"The most serious problem in the state is unemployment. My heart goes out to the unemployed worker and his family.

Inquiry Opens Into Anti-U.S. Outbreaks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate starts an inquiry today into the factors behind such recent anti-American demonstrations as those which marred Vice President Nixon's good will tour of South America.

One purpose of the inquiry is to determine whether the attacks on Nixon, the burning of U.S. information Agency libraries in Lebanon and anti-American outbursts elsewhere were part of a worldwide Communist pattern.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the attacks on Nixon definitely were inspired by Communists who, he said, are but a very small minority in the South American countries.

"There has been a concerted effort throughout the vice president's trip to embarrass him," Hoover said in an interview transcribed for New York State radio stations.

Nixon also blamed the incidents on a small group he said was directed by the Communists seeking to discredit the United States.

There has been no indication that Nixon will appear before the Senate committee.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said one goal of the committee is to find out "the extent to which the CIA and the State Department briefed Mr. Nixon in advance on the dangers he might encounter" on his South American trip.

Reduced by Over 88,000 in 2 Months

Auto Companies Cutting Top-Heavy Inventories

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry appears to be winning one of its major problems—the burden of top-heavy inventories.

In two months the stock of new cars in dealers' hands has been cut by more than 88,000. Production schedules for May have been tightened and there will be a further reduction of unsold cars when they are counted again June 1.

The most recent tabulations shows the retailers had 777,445 new cars in stock or storage on May 1. The high for the year to date was 865,566 on March 1. The industry's record high was 903,789 on March 1, 1956.

Retail sales have fluctuated in recent weeks; unofficial surveys indicate April deliveries exceeded those of March by perhaps 25,000 cars. If the figure is correct April sales amounted to about 425,000. But there has been no return to the traditional spring upsurge. The sales chiefs have about given up hope that there will be any seasonal increase of substantial size.

The inventory-reduction effort is gearing output to demand more closely than ever before in industry history. Its success means there will be few, if any, give-away schemes to speed up sales at the model year end.

The industry has numerous sales incentive programs in operation. Ordinarily these campaigns would wait until the model year neared its end. In most instances the contests provide bonuses of varying amounts for sales above a pre-set minimum. In others there are pre-paid vacation trips for salesmen.

There also are some contests in which additional bonuses are given for sales in which the trade-in car is that of a competitor. The industry calls these conquest sales—winning a customer from a competitor.

Young Cocky Killer Says 'I Want to Die'

By JERRY MARTIN

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP)—"I want to die, man, I'm fed up with it all," said Barton Kay Kirkham, 21, a cocky killer scheduled to hang June 7.

If his death sentence isn't commuted at a final hearing June 4, the 200-pound youth will die on the gallows for killing grocery clerk David Frame, 50, in a $50 holdup in Salt Lake City in August 1956. Mrs. Ruth Webster was also slain in the holdup but Kirkham was tried only on the Frame killing.

Kirkham has refused to appeal for clemency.

"I don't want life. My parents are the ones who want me commuted. They think you can be rehabilitated in prison... but rehabilitation comes from within."

The stubble-haired youth wore a fixed smile and seemed unaware that he was wringing his hands during an interview at Utah State Prison. Despite an occasional lapse into bop talk, his conversation showed evidence of the reading he has done in his 16 months in death row—medical journals, psychiatric texts and legal briefs on his case.

"I guess I'm just a rebel," he said, grinning.

The eldest of five children raised in the Mormon faith, Kirkham said he turned from the church and quit school in the 11th grade. After 18 months in the Air Force, he went AWOL, committed a robbery in Colorado and was given an undesirable discharge while serving nine months in a reformatory.

"I was out five weeks on parole when I shot those people," he said.

His rebellion extends into prison. After letting his hair and beard grow for 13 months, he recently shaved his head and face bald to irk prison officials who ordered his hair trimmed.

His execution will be Utah's first hanging in 46 years.

"I chose hanging instead of the firing squad because of the publicity... the novelty... to put the state to more inconvenience," he said.

Kirkham spends his last days listening to radio music, reading books and scanning newspaper clippings about his case which he keeps pinned to the wall of his cell.

Is he scared?

"Not particularly. When you live with the thought of dying so long, you get used to it. I may get shook up at the last minute, but I don't think so."

Any reason why he turned to crime?

"I'm lazy. These psychiatrists said I don't feel normal emotions, but they say I'm legally sane. I knew it was wrong to kill... but I don't feel any remorse."

But how did society wrong him? Why did he kill?

Kirkham grinned again, threw up his hands and shrugged.

"Man, I don't know..."

Butler Sheriff

Plans Crackdown

After Fatal Crash

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—After a fiery auto collision that claimed five lives Sunday, Sheriff Paul Pell said he plans to start using radar speed controls to help reduce accidents.

Pell said the radar speed operations will start immediately and will be moved around to various places in Butler County.

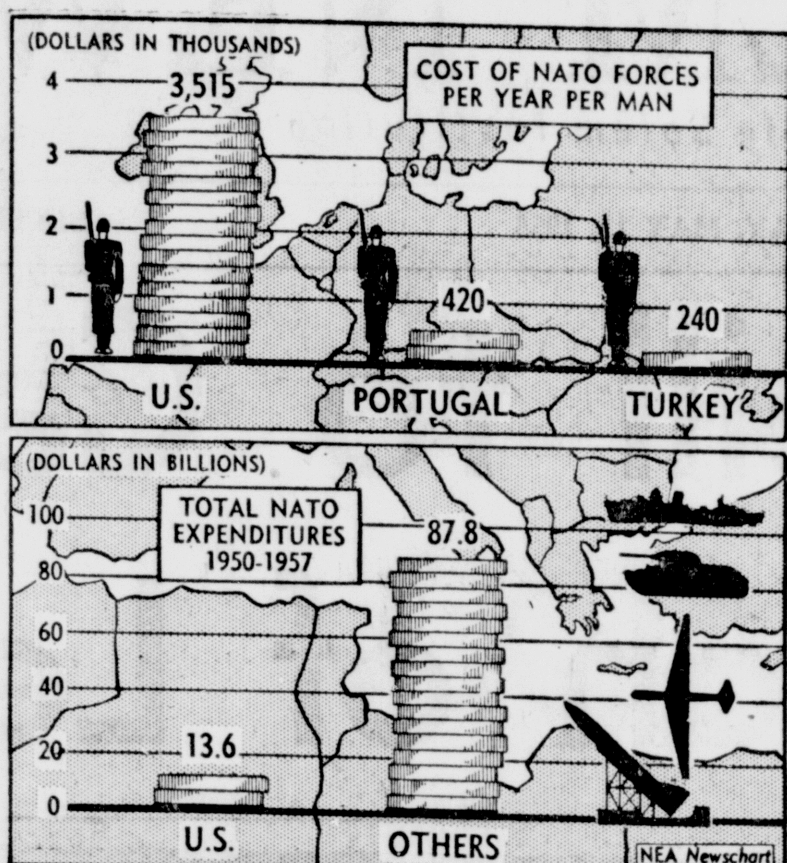

The accident on Ohio gave the county nine traffic deaths in the past week.

Killed near here early Sunday were Mrs. Mary Jack, 42, Franklin, whose husband, John 46, was driving one auto; Daniel Clear, 33, and his wife, Katherine, 35, passengers in the Jack auto; James O. Troutman, 30, Hamilton, and William E. Fanney, 32, Hamilton, who was riding in the Troutman car.

Jack and Winifred Roberts, 22, of Middletown, another Troutman passenger, were injured seriously. Police said the accident happened when Jack apparently turned left toward an exit road and into the path of the Troutman car. Jack's car caught fire.

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—A Byesville woman, Mrs. Marie Cope, 40, has pleaded innocent to a second-degree murder charge in the March 13 shotgun slaying of Fred McCready, 51, of Buckeye. She was arraigned before Common Pleas Judge Delbert L. Tedrick Saturday. No trial date has been set.

Difference is due to higher pay, housing, transportation, etc. In terms of total expenditures, however, lower chart shows that in a seven-year period, the other NATO nations combined have contributed more than six times as much as the United States.

Attending 50th Annual Convention

Dem, GOP Governors Finding Little Ground For Agreement

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Democratic and Republican governors attending their 50th annual conference disagreed today on politics, tax cutting, civil rights, recession cures and federal-state relations.

In a congressional election year that may set up some signposts for the 1960 presidential contest, the governors were finding little unanimity on any subject as they headed into their business sessions.

Democrats generally forecast their party will make telling gains in this year's battle for control of Congress. Republicans disputed this, pointing to farm price increases as one of their chief hopes for political advances.

Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, the conference chairman, barred any official action on civil rights. But Democratic Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida persisted in efforts to sell his idea for federal-state commissions to handle local school integration problems.

Gov. Averell Harriman, New York Democrat, called for a tax reduction for lower and middle income groups—a field in which disagreement cut across party lines.

Stratton and Democratic Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania opposed any general reduction which would increase the federal deficit at a time when government spending is being accelerated.

Gov. Lane Dwinell of New Hampshire viewed a large-scale tax cut as a last resort move against an economic recession. He said he would fear the effect of such action on the federal budget.

Democratic Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut said on a television program with Stratton that President Eisenhower ought to call in top Democrats and Republicans in Congress to attempt to end what Ribicoff said was a stalemate in anti-recession efforts.

However, Stratton said he thinks public works already scheduled represent as big a program as the nation ought to undertake now. Leader said new public works projects take so long to get started they probably won't do much toward relieving unemployment.

Senator Gore Hits U.S. Highway Cost Estimate Systems

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) said today an 11-state check has shown "a disturbing lack of uniformity" in ways of preparing cost estimates for the interstate highway network.

The estimates form the basis on which federal funds are allocated among the states. Lack of uniformity in the estimates would tend to increase some states' shares and lower others. The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate superhighways.

Gore said the system was criticized in a report from the General Accounting Office, which made the study at his request. The report noted, however, that the Bureau of Public Roads defended its apportionments as fair and reasonable.

The senator said the Public Roads subcommittee he heads will meet Tuesday to consider the GAO report.

Because federal aid funds for highways must be voted and apportioned well in advance, Gore said, the division among states for fiscal 1959, which begins July 1, and fiscal 1960, a year later, must stand.

Gore said in a statement the GAO sampling survey found that design standards traffic estimates, and costs lacked the uniformity asked by Congress in passing the Highway Act.

States involved in the GAO check were California, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Texas, Virginia and Washington.

Challenge on Slump Placed Before Industry by Weeks

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks said today the U. S. economy should provide 80 million jobs and a 600-billion-dollar annual production rate within 10 years.

But business is the key to revival and future expansion, he said in an address prepared for an economic mobilization conference of businessmen, organized by the American Management Assn.

He said the government is determined to be "a stepping stone and not a stumbling block" in the path of recovery from the business recession.

President Eisenhower will address the conference Monday, in what the White House has described as a major speech on the state of the economy. Businessmen have expected him to provide some substantial clues to the administration's thinking on possible stimulants to employment, sales and production.

Weeks put the challenge squarely up to industry itself, in these words: "Irrespective of government's role in the economy, the star is business. For the chief business of private industry is to make private industry succeed."

"Therefore businessmen, representing more than four million in dependent enterprises, are the key to revival and future expansion. Their information, their attitudes, their decisions, their efforts and their confidence will be among the most potent factors in this year's economic picture."

Total national output, in terms of 1957 dollars, will rise from the present rate of 416 billion dollars to 600 billion dollars, he said, while personal income per capita will climb from the present annual rate of $1,931, to $2,310 by 1968.

Don't Wait For the Experts

Events of the last few days have cleared up one area of doubt about President Eisenhower's proposals for reorganizing the Pentagon.

Taxpayers who had been waiting for experts to tell them whether or not their dream of security with solvency was within reach are going to get no direct help from expert testimony. Opponents of the reorganization plan have had no trouble getting experts for their side, but its friends have had no trouble, either.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, both former chairmen of the Joint Chiefs of Staff are for the plan — and they alone balance out the adverse testimony of its bitter critics.

The most important balancing act so far has been in the House of Representatives, however. Rep. Carl Vinson, the Georgia Democrat who is openly using his influence as chairman of the House Armed Services Committee to snipe at the reorganization, has been "balanced out" by another old-time Democrat, Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri. Rep. Cannon is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee—perhaps the most powerful chairmanship in Congress. All appropriation bills must originate in Rep. Cannon's committee.

Rep. Cannon teed off on Rep. Vinson and the faction trying to scuttle the President's reorganization plan in strong language. "Any compromise on this carefully thought out measure destroys it," he said in a major speech on the floor of the House.

Germans Make Barbed Wire Too

Every congressman getting ready to vote on the reciprocal trade bill and every union leader getting ready to ask for higher wage rates should think about an example in a recent speech by the chairman of the board of United States Steel Corp., Roger M. Blough.

Barbed wire made in Germany, he said, was being delivered to a jobber in Cleveland for $40 a ton less than it could be furnished by his company, because wage rates are pricing many U. S. steel items out of their natural market. This will become painfully plain, he predicted when the St. Lawrence Seaway reduces transportation costs for overseas products.

The obvious solution is to erect tariff barriers, to keep out foreign products, many of which are being made more efficiently than ever before, thanks to the U.S. foreign aid program. But even William McKinley, who made his fame as a protectionist, knew why high tariffs could be fatal in the blundering hands of people who think the United States, with 6 per cent of the world's population, can ever wall itself away from the other 94 per cent.

The logical solution—not the obvious one but the logical one—is to make U.S. production fully competitive with foreign production; no other solution will work in the long run. This is the way it was done when emphasis always was on efficiency, but it cannot be done that way again until emphasis has been taken off wage-rate inflation, which is an economic shell-game in

Once Over

A poll shows Nelson A. Rockefeller in lead as nominee for governor of New York on the GOP ticket against Gov. Harriman. Both are millionaires many times over and the cry could be "May the best maharajah win."

For generations it was a sure thing that nothing could be more poisonous at the polls than a high standing man of vast wealth. Income and estate taxes have changed that. Voters realize today that if a candidate has a lot of dough he has more headaches than they have. Average man feels a man of fabulous riches is more to be pitied than censured. The public knows money by the barrel can be a terrific burden and means a tougher struggle than old time candidates endured in rail splitting.

IF MAN BORN to great wealth has been able to keep solvent to middle age or beyond it is known that he has had hard going and developed a deep sense of pity for all people in trouble. Averell Harriman is the son of the late E. H. Harriman, railroad tycoon who piled it up in the days when the rich were cartooned as "Moneybags" and knew they could seldom seek a popular vote.

Mr. Rockefeller's grandad was the famed John D. of Standard Oil fame. But millionaires have changed with times and some of the top ones are notable for interest in public welfare and for work in the interest of rank and file.

Today a slogan "From Penthouse to Governor!" would bother few voters. A candidate might win with a battle cry of "Up from the polo field to the people's choice!"

In fact, it is easy to think of possible campaign slogans should it be Harriman vs. Rockefeller. "Vote for Harriman. He has the know-how and the how much." "A vote for Rockefeller is a vote for financial experience from the cradle to the Capital." "Cast your ballot for Nelson. As sturdy as Fort Knox." "Born to riches, but he lived it down after living it up." "The idol of the people; A man who rose from economic luxury by hard work." "Press Top Lever for our candidate. He began at the top and worked down!"

VICTIMS OF PAINFUL sufferings long ne-

"We will never have another chance," he said. "It is high time we put an end to this insane bickering between the services, eliminate billions of wastage and begin to develop sufficient military strength to keep us out of war. The only way to stay out of war is to be so strong they will not dare attack us. We may be losing that advantage."

Rep. Cannon had a powerful example to bring to the recollection of his listeners—the disaster at Pearl Harbor, which he said "would not have happened if Congress had properly organized the armed forces, and if the Army and Navy had called a truce in their perpetual rivalry and cooperated in the face of the recognized danger of which both had been adequately warned."

If Congress had properly organized the armed forces...

That is where the issue lies. Military witnesses are of secondary importance. There will be no hearings on the main problem, which is the conflict between opposing factions in Congress.

One faction, typified by Rep. Vinson, wants Congress to keep national defense divided and dependent on representatives and senators for appropriations and policies. An opposing faction, typified by Rep. Cannon, who knows how the appropriations racket works, wants to unify the over-all direction of national defense under a civilian secretary of defense and repress politicking and bickering.

U. S. taxpayers, who are paying the bill to the tune of 50 billion dollars a year, must make their choice on that basis.

which workers are cozened into cheating themselves out of their own jobs.

This is the blunt warning of the head of U. S. Steel Corp. to the U. S. worker: "If he permits the vast economic and political power that he now possesses to be used to force wage costs even higher, then I am very much afraid that the great St. Lawrence Seaway—when it opens next year—will be nothing more than a one-way street... west-bound!"

Play It Safe

Tonight's downtown parade heralds the safety check of automobiles which is to be conducted for one week, beginning Thursday.

The vehicle safety check is certainly a project worthy of praise and challenging enough to win all motorists' participation. Sponsored by the UCT, safety lanes will be set up on certain streets where you may drive in and have the functional equipment of your automobile checked—gratis—by police and a mechanic.

There's nothing compulsory about it but, obviously, it's to your advantage to stop for the brief trip through the safety lane. It might even be the means of saving your life.

It is estimated that the average cow moves its jaw 41,000 times a day and when a bridge club gets together...

By H. I. Phillips

glected are folks with homes bordering on golf links. They feel a little better today. A Jersey court has ruled that a club must completely change a hole where the tee was so close to a home that the dwellers were a captive audience. It was a water hole, which always makes golfers irritable, noisy and disturbing. The owner said golfers constantly berated him and his family if they made any sound, but jammed the air with their own commotions.

The judge ordered the club to switch the tee far from the house and eliminate the water hole. The fellow who dwells in a hacienda bordering on the links has always struck us as either a sap or a hero. It meant that, moving his own lawn, he would hear "Quiet, please!" from golfers trying to play a ball out from under his porch furniture. A crash of glass at 6:30 a.m., a ball landing the bureau and the entrance of a golfer who asks silence while choosing his club can be pretty disturbing.

DOES A WORLD which takes his money but tosses stones at him assume Uncle Sam is a rock 'n' roll target?

A Barcelona surgeon lost his coat, watch and wallet during an operation. "Holmes and Watson wanted in surgery!"

Wayne and Shuster, Canadian TV comics, who made a hit on their first U.S. show, made the mistake of thinking the thud of the guillotine on human necks a good comedy target in the second show.

A huge U.S. Air Force four-motor plane was used to carry Yul Brynner from Vienna to the Cannes Film Festival. Uncle Sam could explain it all by saying, "Somebody there told me they could get me in pictures."

Proofreaders' latest despair is spelling the name of French leader PFLIMLIN.

While U.S. at Brussels is featuring jazz musicians, Russia puts emphasis on a Red Army Chorus 100 strong, all with exceptional voices, raising the roof with "Volga Boatmen" and other stirring Soviet airs. One hundred dancers are tossed in for good measure. But it must be a relief to leave this show and go over for a soothing half hour with Benny Goodman.

The Abyss

The Taxpayers and TVA

By RAYMOND MOLEY

While the Tennessee Valley Authority is celebrating its silver anniversary, it may be well to consider a very important financial aspect which concerns every taxpayer in the United States, as well as every beneficiary of that institution.

Just what is the status of the investment that the United States as a whole has made in the TVA in the course of its quarter-century of life?

This investment, if that is what it is to be called, according to a report of the comptroller general of the United States covering the fiscal year 1957, is about two billion dollars. The government's equity in the power assets of the TVA is approximately $1,614,000,000.

On this outlay from the U.S. government, no interest is or has been paid. The law specifies this exemption.

Under the Government Corporations Appropriation Act of 1948, the TVA should pay 87 million dollars into the U.S. Treasury during the 10-year period ending June 30 of this year, and an equivalent amount during each 10-year period following until about 350 million has been paid.

IT IS ALSO required that new congressional appropriations for power facilities be repaid over a period not to exceed 40 years after the facilities go into operation.

The TVA makes a very large profit on power sales but stands a loss on many other activities. The net is still very large. Comptroller General Campbell says in the report to which I referred:

"Therefore, we are continuing our recommendation that the authority be directed to pay interest on the investment of federal funds allocated to power, including construction in progress and investigations for future projects, at a rate adequate to reimburse the United States treasury for the cost of providing funds and, if necessary, for the sound conduct of the power program, that the statutory repayment requirement be modified."

There are two quite different ways of characterizing the status of the United States so far as its so-called "investment" in the project is concerned.

One is that the United States is a creditor. If that be true, then the TVA is a very delinquent, not to say a bad, debtor.

Another characterization of the relationship is that the United States is a stockholder or investor. If that be true, it is a neglected stockholder and an unfortunate investor.

BASICALLY, if this enterprise is good business, the United States and the TVA must be considered as two entities, and their relationship should be calculated under the normal conditions which prevail in a capitalist society. This is only an elementary requirement in sound fiscal policy.

There is a moral issue, too. The United States, which means all of us as taxpayers, has liberally given toward the development of a needy region. That region has recovered from the dark days of 1933 and is as prosperous as the rest of the country. Thus it should pay for the help it was given, especially since we all are laboring under crushing government expense.

If the Kerr bill, which would permit the TVA to issue its own securities, should be finally passed and approved by the President (it has already passed the Senate), the United States will no longer be the sole investor.

There will be private individuals who have bought the securities on the ground that there are ample "profits" to cover the investment and to pay interest. Then, under the present law, the United States will be relegated to an inferior status as compared with the new investors.

This is a strange way to compensate the taxpayers of the United States who gave so generously in days when the Tennessee Valley was in dire need.

Million to Visit UN

By IRVING DEWITT TALMADGE

International Building Top Tourist Attraction

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. In the next few weeks, the United Nations may be forced to put up a "standing room only" sign in front of its visitors' entrance.

Already the top tourist attraction in New York (860,483 visitors last year), the U.N. expects to break all previous attendance records when schools close in June. More than a third of the visitors are teachers and students.

Getting ready for the oncoming summer invasion of tourists is a team of 65 attractive, young college women, in natty ("U. N. Blue") uniforms. These U. N. guides, half of whom are from the United States, have all the salient facts about the world peace organization at their fingertips and know among them 19 different languages. The hour-long tours they conduct have become known as "A Trip Around the World in 60 Minutes."

U.N. officials expect the attendance in 1958 to top the million mark. During the first quarter of this year, it has averaged better than 3,000 a day. An all-time high was reached on the Wednesday after Easter when more than 6,000 persons took the U.N. tour.

According to Glenn Bennett, director of the U.N. visitors service, of the 860,483 persons who toured the United Nations last year, no fewer than 362,000 were school children.

WHO ARE the others who throng the U.N. They are the cross-section of America, people of all ages and all walks of life — beauticians and beauty queens, sennographers and movie stars, labor leaders and captains of industry, veteran organizations and Boy Scout Troops (who receive special Merit Badges for visiting the U.N.). And, of course, there are church groups, fraternal orders, pacifist organizations and women's clubs.

A few years ago, 52 Methodist bishops paid a call. In 1954, 13,000 teachers attending the National Education Association convention descended en masse on the U.N. Each year 50 members of Congress and their wives come up from Washington for a tour. The visitors' list also includes 21 members of the French Parliament, 150 air cadets from 22 countries and frequent delegations from AFL-CIO conventions.

Among the most colorful visitors in past years were the chiefs of four Indian "nations" from Canada who came in native costume—war paint, feathers, and all—to smoke there peace pipes at the U.N. There have been, all told, four "delegations" of American Indian tribes since the U.N. was established.

The U.N. has also played host to a group of Amish from Lancaster County, Pa. — bearded men in plain black suits and women in white prayer caps and aprons. These members of a small Christian pacifist sect who rarely leave their farms, made the trip to the U. N. "because it symbolizes peace."

This year, in April, a colorfully costumed troupe of dancers from Colombia paid a visit. While inside "The Glass House" committees and subcommittees grappled with the world's thorny problems, the gay visitors outside, on the U.N. plaza, did the Samba to the loud accompaniment of guitars, bongo drums and tambourines.

OCCASIONALLY, there is a slip-up in connection with unexpected visitors. Some months ago, a receptionist called one of the secretary general's assistants to tell him that a delegation of Liberians had arrived. Visitors from far off Liberia are rare. The U.N. official dropped his work, hurried down to greet them — only to discover that he hadn't gotten the message right. The "delegation of Liberians" turned out to be a delegation of librarians!

Royal y. too, has made its pilgrimage. On Oct. 21, 1957, Elizabeth II and Prince Philip of Britain paid a "state visit" to the world organization and her majesty addressed a special plenary session of the General Assembly.

Other reigning monarchs and heads of state who made official calls at the U.N. in the past three years include the King of Saudi Arabia, the Prince of Liechtenstein, King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece, President Sukarno of Indonesia, President Giovanni Gronchi of Italy, President Celal Bayar of Turkey and nearly every premier of each of the 82 member nations.

But these are special and honored guests. The majority of visitors to the U.N. are tourists who are in New York on a holiday. They may or may not try to get tickets to "My Fair Lady" but top on their must list — and way ahead of the Statue of Liberty, the museums and coney island — is a tour of the U.N.

Near the Meditation Room at the U.N. headquarters is a guest book. It is not part of "the tour." But about 15 per cent of the visitors write something in it. Occasionally, there is a cynical wisecrack—"Too many foreigners in the U.N.," "A was of taxpayers' money," "Why is there no air raid shelter in the U.N. building?" But fully nine out of ten comments are favorable. Most of them are a variation of the same theme — that "The U.N. is man's best hope for peace."

Great U.S. Dilemma

By JAMES MARLOW

The cold war against Communist dictatorship of the left makes strange bedfellows for the United States, which preaches democracy but does business with dictatorships of the right.

This is one of the great American dilemmas at mid-century.

The immediate effect may be to limit the spread of communism. The long-range effect can be bad. For example: in Latin America which has thrown out seven strongmen since 1955 and has three left. The effect can be bad elsewhere too.

This is why Vice President Nixon — home after being stoned and spat upon in Latin America — has reportedly decided to recommend this kind of American policy in the future:

To be stiff and formal in dealing with Latin-American strongmen but friendly with democratic regimes.

In the meantime this country has close ties with dictatorships abroad. For example: it does business with the Spanish dictator, Francisco Franco, because it wants to keep American bases in Soan.

The United States, anxious to keep the Middle East oil lines open, only last year gave a warm reception to the King of Saudi Arabia, who gathers in all the American money he can for his family. Little trickles down to his people.

Nixon received his worst and most violent treatment in Venezuela. Only last January that nation threw out its dictator, Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez, who then was given asylum in the United States. In 1953 Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, made a Latin American good will tour similar to Nixon's this year. When he reached Venezuela he announced he was carrying a personal message to Jimenez from President Eisenhower.

That same year in Colombia the U. S. Embassy gave a banquet honoring Milton Eisenhower and the Colombian strongman, President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla. Pinilla was thrown out in 1957.

That same year in Peru Eisenhower and President Manuel A. Odría, military dictator, toasted each other in champagne. Odría was thrown out later.

Here are other Latin-American countries which have rid themselves of strongmen since 1955: Argentina (Juan D. Peron); Haiti (President Paul E. Magloire); Honduras (Julio Lozano Diaz); Nicaragua (President Anastasio Somoza, assassinated).

But the strongmen are still going strong in Cuba (President Fulgencio Batista); in Paraguay (President Alfredo Stroessner, military dictator); and the Dominican Republic (Rafael Trujillo).

In the meantime the Communists — blithely ignoring the fact that their regime any place they establish it is a dictatorship — make pronouncements against this country for its footsie-playing with dictatorships of the right.

But the American problem goes even deeper. For example, in its desire to keep France in the West ern fold it has had to watch the colonial-minded French unsuccessfully try to hold Indochina.

And this country, advocate of democracy a foe of colonialism, democracy and by the very nature has had to sit on the fence while the French sought to crush the revolt of the Algerian natives.

Yet its Algerian effort has now brought France — because of the internal pressures — to the edge of chaos today.

So They Say

(Labor union power) constitutes a more immediate threat to our way of life than does the military might of Soviet Russia. . . (I can bring our country to its knees in a manner of days, which is more than Khrushchev can do. — New York Attorney Theodore B. Eserman, addressing the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

It is far from inconceivable that Vice President Richard Nixon may, in the next six months, find himself standing alongside a suave Soviet diplomat and hear himself toasted in vodka by the very man who personally flashed the signal for the stoning and spitting attack on him.

That Soviet official is V. V. Kuznetsov, first U.S.S.R. deputy foreign minister. Comrade Kuznetsov flew into Montevideo, Uruguay, from Buenos Aires, just a few days after Dick Nixon was hailed there. Tovaritch K. was annoyed. It had been reported to him in Buenos Aires that Mr. Nixon had done very well with the Argentines — especially with the Argentine working people and their labor leaders.

The climax of this outpouring of good fellowship had been a beef-steak barbecue party thrown for the Nixon group by the Argentine federation of labor.

My good friend Serafino Romualdi, AFL-CIO specialist in Latin American affairs, was in the official Nixon delegation to the Argentine inauguration and was at the gay picnic. There, Latin American union chiefs followed each other in warm praise of Mr. Nixon and the U.S. Comrade Kuznetsov left for Uruguay in a Red funk.

The Russian tovaritch won't acknowledge this but I've known the comrade for some time. Once he was chairman of the Soviet All Union Central Council of Trade Unions. He visited the U.S. in an attempt to fraternize with labor leaders right after the war, before the big frost set in. Also he worked in the U.S. as a machinist of sorts. He is an expert on the U.S.

MOST LIKELY Kuznetsov still is in Latin America. He was there during the rioting. His word is law. No party could have sent its cadres into the streets without clearing with V. V.

These revolutionary cadres would have been flying labor squads if the Russians had any real influence in the Peruvian or Venezuelan union movements. But the Communists have just started operating there after long suppression.

In Venezuela, the Communist section of the Soviet Comintern controls only one local in the famous oil industry and has just a token following among some building and construction and textile workers.

Virtually the entire labor movement backs the Democratic Action party, similar in policy to New York's Liberal party. In the crucial oil industry the anti-Communists run 25 of the 35 locals. The Catholic influence controls two. The Democratic Republicans have one. The others are just "non-partisan."

WITHOUT THESE units, the Communists can have no influence inside Venezuelan labor. The white collar and iron ore miners' locals also adhere to the Democratic Action party — as do the farm workers.

So the Communist party there had to turn to the restless students — and at the same time secretly tie up with the underworld, Gestapo-like thugs of the old Perez Jimenez dictatorship.

This was foreseen by the specialists inside U.S. labor, who believed that it was a mistake to ex-Venezuelan secret political permit the Heinrich Himmler-like police chief, Pedro Estrada, and his former boss to enter the U.S. They now live in Florida like they owned Las Vegas slot machines.

The ability of Estrada and Jimenez to find political asylum in the U.S. was bound to anger Venezuelan students.

THE YOUNGSTERS hated the Latin-type Himmler because he brutalized them last January after they revolted against him and Perez Jimenez. Estrada had closed schools and universities there for years.

A warning that our prestige would be hurt was dispatched by AFL-CIO proxy George Meany to the State Department on May 6.

This was one day before Tovaritch Kuznetsov arrived in Montevideo and three days before the first stone was cast. Meany wrote to assistant secretary of state, Roy Rubottom saying:

"We regret that Perez Jimenez (former dictator) and Pedro Estrada (Millionaire secret police chief) are residing on U.S. soil. There is a very great danger that they will engage in subversive activities against the democratic regime of Venezuela. . . . We believe that the U.S. government should be constantly vigilant . . . and should not allow them to engage — from their haven in this country — in any action of this kind."

Steel Output Hike Offsets Drop in April

CLEVELAND (AP) — In the last three weeks steel production has risen sufficiently to offset the steady drop in output over the five weeks to April 27, "Steel" magazine said today.

Compared with a 1958 low of 47 per cent in late April, last week's operations were at 51.5 per cent of capacity, or 1,390,000 net tons of steel for ingots and castings, "Steel" reported.

A strong market in farm equipment sales and increased construction activity are contributing to the improvement. Car companies apparently have placed their last steel orders for 1958 models, the weekly journal of metalworking reported.

Eight of 13 steelmaking districts had higher production rates last week. Cincinnati was up 23.5 points to 53 per cent; Detroit up 3 points to 36.5 per cent; Youngstown held at 45 per cent; Cleveland sagged 1.5 to 26 per cent; and Pittsburgh was off a half point to 50.5 per cent.

"Steel's" composite on No. 1 heavy melting scrap was up 83 cents to $32.83 a gross ton.

A clue to what will happen on steel prices may be forthcoming next week from tin plate producers.

Customarily they give the can companies 35 days notice on price boosts, and if they are to raise prices of tin plate July 1 when a higher wage scale becomes effective for the United Steelworkers, an announcement would be made by May 27.

Cleveland Wins Doubleheader From Chicago 7-4, 10-6

Hardy's Homer Wins 1st Game

Tribe's Ray Narleski, Mossi Gain Victories

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians had to work overtime Sunday, but took over third place in the American League by winning their first doubleheader of the season, 7-4 and 10-6 over the Chicago White Sox.

With both games interrupted by rain, the twin bill ended seven hours and 15 minutes after it started. Play was halted for nine minutes at the end of the eighth inning of the opener and for 38 minutes in the second frame of the nightcap.

Rookie Carroll Hardy broke up the first game with an 11th inning home run into the left field stand, with two men on base. It was his first homer in the major leagues.

The Indians spotted Chicago five runs in the second game, but kept plugging away to win behind the capable relief pitching of Don Mossi, who gave up only one run in seven innings. Mossi gained his fourth victory in seven decisions. Gerry Staley, who pitched 3 2-3 innings in relief, was charged with the loss.

Chicago hopped on starter Bob Kelly for four runs in the first inning of the nightcap and added another in the second before he was relieved by Dick Tomaneck with only one out. Mossi took over at the beginning of the third and finished the game.

A two-run homer by Bubba Phillips featured the visitors' first-inning rally.

The Indians came back with four runs in the second and tied the score at 5-5 in the fifth. They pulled away in the sixth on a single by Billy Harrell and a double by Mickey Vernon and put the game on ice with a three-run rally in the seventh featured by Russ Nixon's second home run of the year.

Hardy's game-winning blast came off southpaw Billy Pierce, who had just entered the game in a bit of strategy on the part of Sox Manager Al Lopez.

Gary Geiger opened the bottom of the 11th inning with a single and was sacrificed to second. Minnie Minoso then drew an intentional walk from Jim Wilson and Pierce was called in to pitch to left-handed battering Roger Maris. But Tribe Manager Bobby Bragan countered by recalling Maris and sending Hardy, who bats right-handed, to the plate in his place.

Hardy's homer was disputed by Lopez and the White Sox, who claimed it had curved foul.

A two-out homer by Vernon in the last of the ninth tied the score after the White Sox had taken a 4-3 lead with two runs in the top half of the inning.

Early Wynn, formerly of the Indians, started for Chicago. The 38-year-old right-hander was holding a 2-0 lead, and hadn't given up a hit going into the seventh inning, when the Tribe got to him for two runs on four hits.

An eighth-inning home run by Harrell, his first of the season, gave the Indians a 3-2 lead and set the stage for Chicago's ninth inning rally.

Ray Narleski pitched the last 2 2-3 innings and was credited with the victory, his fifth against two losses. Wilson was tagged with the loss, giving him a 3-3 record.

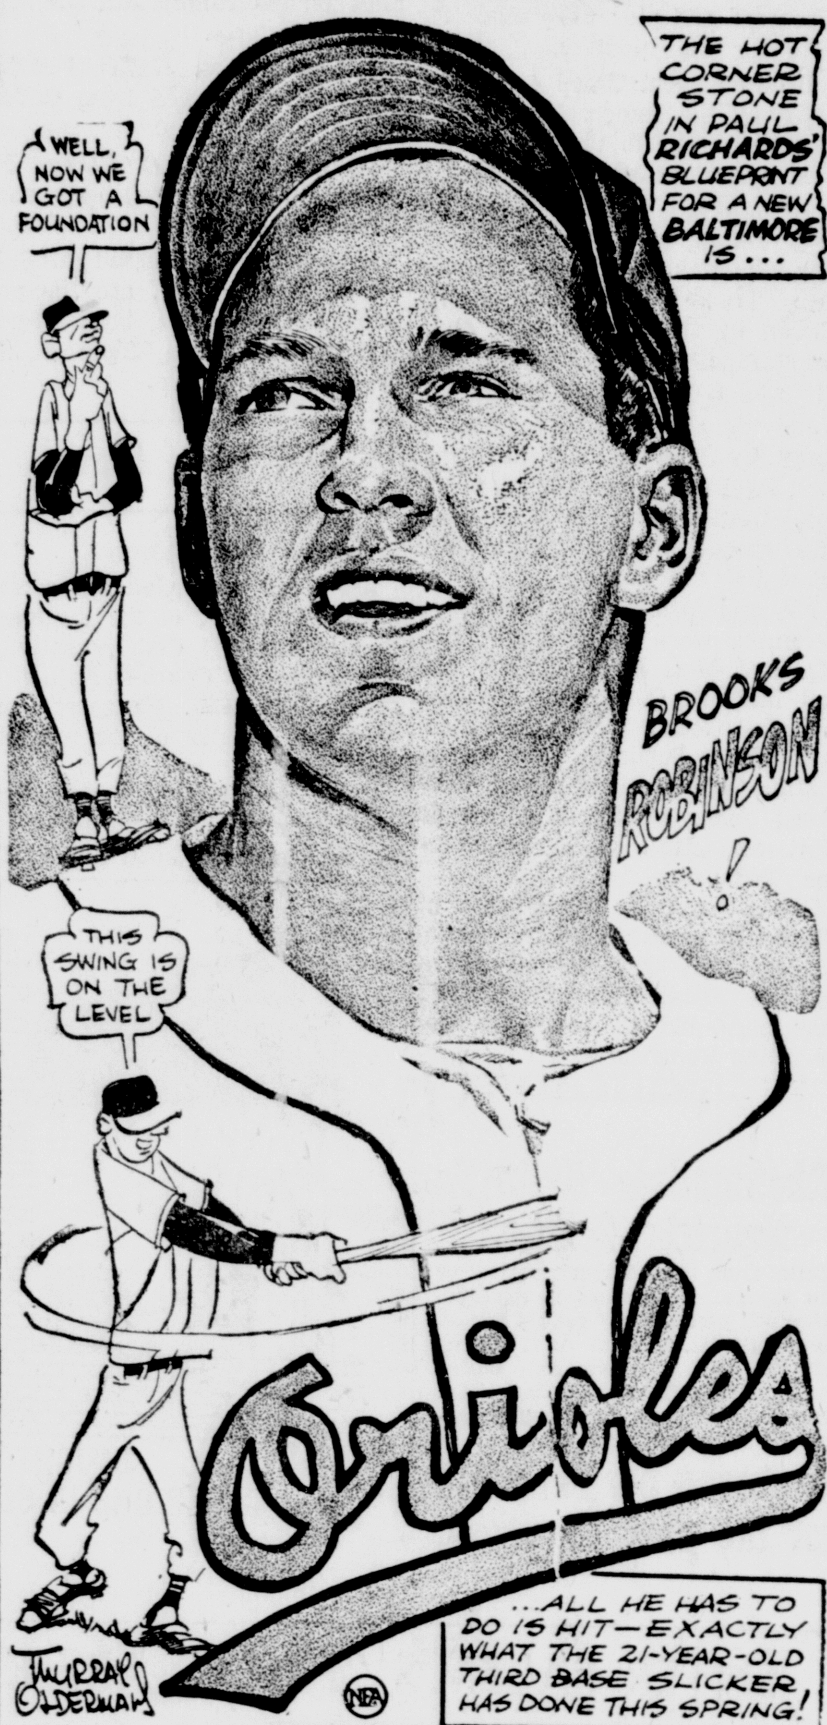

The two victories gave the Indians a split in the four-game series with the White Sox.

Idle today, the Tribe opens a two-game series with the Boston Red Sox here Tuesday night and then plays three games with the Washington Senators before taking on the league-leading New York Yankees in a doubleheader at Lakefront Stadium next Sunday afternoon.

Giants Defeat Cubs 7-3, 4-0

Pirates Knocked Off By Phils 6-4, 6-2

By The Associated Press
The time has come to take seriously the dashing play of the San Francisco Giants.

Johnny Antonelli and Stu Miller pitched the Giants into the National League lead Sunday with back-to-back complete games in Chicago. Left-handed Johnny held the Cubs to five hits in the 7-3 opener and slow ballster Miller, who failed to finish a game in 13 starts a year ago, threw a three-hitter, 4-0, in the second game.

Cincinnati's 11-7 blackjack job on Milwaukee left the Giants on top by one full game but only two percentage points.

Philadelphia may have exploded the Pittsburgh bubble, completing a four-game series sweep by knocking off the Pirates 6-4 and 6-2. Jack Sanford, 1957 Rookie of the Year, and Ray Sempach, who may be a 1958 candidate, did the pitching job. Sempach went all the way but Sanford needed help from Dick Farrell.

Carl Erskine stopped the Los Angeles spin for at least one game when he shut out St. Louis 4-0 to gain an even split for the Dodgers. The Cardinals won the first game 6-5 on Ken Boyer's grand slam homer, their 10th victory in 11 games.

Danny O'Connell, Willie Kirkland and Jim Davenport were the big men for the Giants at Chicago. O'Connell had two doubles in the first game and a single, double and triple in the second. Kirkland drove in three runs in the first game with a single and triple and added two more singles in the second. Davenport had three hits, including a pair of doubles, in the second.

Antonelli held the Cubs hitless for five innings until pinch hitter Bobby Adams slammed a triple to open the sixth. The Cubs hit only six balls out of the infield on Miller's slow stuff.

George Crowe and Dee Fondy hit home runs for Cincinnati, where Bob Purkey finally sneaked in with a 13-hitter. Lew Burdette was chased by the Redlegs. Purkey gave up two homers to Joe Adcock and one each to Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews.

A beaming controversy flared in the fourth when Frank Robinson was hit by Milwaukee's Dick Littlefield. The pitcher was warned. A similar ruckus had developed Saturday night when two Braves were hit by pitched balls.

Boyer homered for the Cardinals in the first inning of the first game off Fred Kipp after fouling eight pitchers on a 3-2 count. Rube Walker and Johnny Roseboro homered for the Dodgers in the first game. Gil Hodges and Charlie Neal in the second.

Chuck Essegian and Rip Repulski hit home runs for the Phils while Dick Groat and Frank Thomas homered for the Pirates in their first game. Harry Anderson led the Phils' 13-hit attack in the second with a home run and two singles.

The tight Big Ten baseball race spins into the final week with Michigan State on top but with Minnesota and Ohio State challenging.

The Spartans took over first place Saturday with a double triumph over Purdue, 8-5 and 3-1, while Minnesota eased into second place, one-half game behind MSU, by beating Iowa 4-1 and 6-1. Ohio State dropped out of a first place tie with Michigan State on a split with Wisconsin. The Bucks lost 7-1 and came back with a 4-3 victory.

With only three games left, Michigan State leads with a 9-3 record; Minnesota is 8-3 and Ohio State 8-4.

Pearls of great price?

Better yet!...they're iron pellets

Almost 6 million tons of these pellets were produced last year. Since there were so many, why are they so precious?

Because steelmen—searching for new sources of iron to supplement the rich deposits of ore they have been using for so many years—have invested over a billion dollars in their manufacture.

The precious iron pellets are produced out of the abundant iron-bearing rocks of Minnesota and Michigan. The product of the teamwork of technology plus capital, the pellets are cheaper to ship and store, and easily fed into the furnace.

Pellets may not be as beautiful as pearls, but they are far more important to you.

Braves Bow 11-7 To Reds' Purkey

CINCINNATI (AP)—It looks like a shrewd campaigner like Bob Purkey is the only Cincinnati Redleg hurler who can whip the world champion Milwaukee Braves.

The 48-year-old righthander turned the trick Sunday in an 11-7

Redleg victory—his second over the Braves. Milwaukee already has won four from Cincinnati.

The Braves seem to occupy a special compartment in Redleg Manager Birdie Tebbetts' campaign plotting.

Tebbetts says he knows the experts have picked Milwaukee as the team to beat in the National League this year.

He said, "I can go along with them to the extent that I respect Milwaukee. . . . If anybody beats us, it'll be Milwaukee."

"But I'll bet a good hat right now they won't take 18 out of 22 from us like they did last season."

Purkey, acquired from Pittsburgh's Pirates last winter in a trade, has proved a shrewd investment.

He's the Redlegs' winningest pitcher with four victories, three of them complete games.

Yet, as a control specialist, he's not too impressive to watch on the mound. In fact, teammate Johnny Temple said, "Purkey's fast ball really looks like something after you've seen the rest of the stuff he throws up there."

Pitching coach Tom Ferrick says, "Watching him warm up, you wouldn't give a nickel for his chances. But that's the kind of hitters guessing and he keeps them offside."

But Purkey's stuff—mainly sliders, sinkers and knucklers—was not extra sharp Sunday and he gave up 13 hits—including three homers. After some rocky early innings, he had little real trouble until a ninth-inning uprising. The Braves put together two singles and Johnny Logan clouted a homer before Purkey could end the game.

The Redlegs also collected 13 hits, but made more of them count—notably in the three-run third inning and the six-run fourth.

Cincinnati finally sent an old troublemaker, Lew Burdette, to an early shower in the fourth after Johnny Temple doubled in a run. But Burdette's successor, Dick Littlefield, was quickly touched for a three-run homer by Dee Fondy. A hit batsman, a double and a single accounted for two more markers before Littlefield ended the inning.

Doubles by George Crowe and Ed Bailey started Redleg scoring in the second. First sacker Crowe came back in the third with a three-run homer that pulled Cincinnati into the lead for the first time, 4-3.

Frank Robinson's double and Crowe's single in the sixth wrapped up Cincinnati scoring.

Milwaukee had picked up an early lead on Eddie Mathews' homes in the first inning. Joe Adcock's homer in the second and a double-single combination good for one run in the third.

Adcock's second homer, in the eighth, was a preamble to the troublesome ninth.

The last game in the current Brave series comes tonight with Johnny Klippstein slated to oppose Warren Spahn on the mound.

Sam Snead Is Victor in Own Golf Tourney

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Sam Snead, having staved off an assault on his castle by a promising young aspirant to golf's throne, turned his mind again today to the one major title that has eluded him—the U. S. Open.

Snead, who will be 46 next week, was carried five extra holes Sunday before he warded off 22-year-old Gary Player of South Africa in the Snead Festival.

Player gave two of golf's best, throughout the tourney before succumbing. He played seasaw with them for the first three rounds of the regulation 72, and then tied Snead at the end.

He los out on the fifth sudden death playoff hole when he couldn't make a five-foot putt. Snead, who had blown two short putts on the second and fourth, made his from a yard away to win.

It was the fourth time in 11 of the tournaments on the course where he has been pro for 21 years that Snead has won the $2,300 first prize.

Hogan, also preparing for the Open next month in Tulsa, where he will try for a record fifth championship, pulled up in third place with 265. Par is 280.

Player finished with a 66, Snead with 67 and Hogan with 68.

Crawford Is Favored Over Andy Figueroa

By The Associated Press

Most boxing fans go for the freewheeling, slambang fighters who provide plenty of action. Young Mickey Crawford of Saginaw, Mich., is one of the few class boxers to make a hit with the paying as well as video-viewing customers in recent days.

The 24-year-old welterweight contender has built up a good following with his clever moves and fast, accurate punching. He can take a punch too.

Winner of three straight this year, Crawford is a 3-1 favorite to stretch the streak to four tonight at the expense of aggressive Andy (Figaro) Figueroa of New York at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Crawford whipped Gil Turner in his last outing at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 28. His record is 21-2. Figueroa has a 19-10-3 record. Du Mont will telecast at 10 p. m., EDT.

Wednesday night, Germaine Balarin of Paris, France, takes on a toughie in Yvon Durelle, the French-Canadian fisherman from Baie Ste. Ann, N. B., at Montreal. This is the second Wednesday night TV fight to originate from outside the United States.

Another Frenchman, Lahouari Godih, a Parisian by way of Algeria, makes his second American start against New York's Johnny Bussio at Madison Square Garden Friday night. It's a TV fight.

Folding Partitions Important Space Savers In Dwellings

Folding partitions are growing steadily in popularity because they are an important tool for the home designer, as well as an important space saver for the home owner.

Because of its flexibility and its space-saving characteristics, the folding partition is conveniently adapted to modern day living. It enables certain rooms to be used for more than one function, thereby reducing the cost of the house.

A folding partition is a wall or a large portion of a wall between two rooms or spaces which can be almost completely opened up by having sections of it fold up against each other.

The partition moves along a track, usually at the top, to one side or another, or both. A segment of a folding partition also can be used as a substitute for doors or closet fronts.

Many Varieties

There are more than 25 varieties of folding partitions on the market and they can be divided into three basic types.

A popular type and perhaps heading the list is the accordion partition. It is constructed of light steel frames, which are in the shape of an "X," fastened together and performing in scissors-like fashion. The frame is covered with a vinyl fabric which comes in an extensive range of colors and textures.

Another type is made up of wood slats, about six inches wide, which fold together so that only the ends of the slats are showing when the partition is completely open.

When this partition is closed, it looks like a flush wall of wood with vertical joints and closely resembles wood siding. Nearly any kind of wood could be specified for this type of folding partition in order to fit an interior decor.

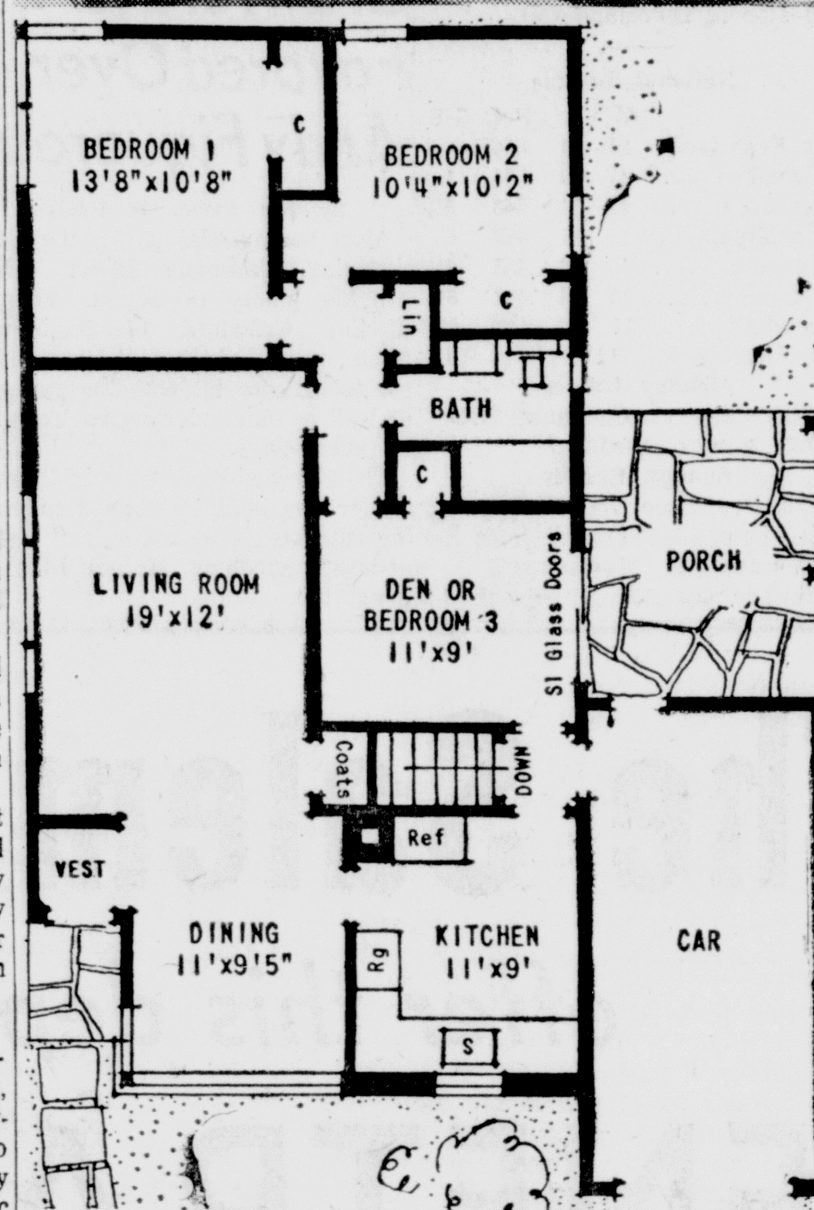

New Type Available

Recently introduced is a fairly new type of folding partition, made of composition board or plywood in sections from 12 inches to 16 inches wide. These panels may be painted, covered with a fabric or left in their natural color.

An unusual effect can be obtained by painting the vertical panels in different colors or in different shades of a single color. This type of folding partition is particularly well adapted to large closet fronts. In this case, the panels extend from floor to ceiling and, when closed, appear to be a paneled wall.

Samuel Paul, a prominent New York architect, frequently uses folding partitions in his residential designs and feels they can become an ingenious tool for creating new effects in home planning.

Paul says:

THIS SIX-ROOM RANCH house would be ideal for a narrow or corner lot. Its dimensions, including the garage, are 35 by 49 feet 6 inches. Excluding the porch and the garage, it has 1,075 square feet. The house has a full basement. The plan, HA31-C, is by Architect Lester Cohen, Room 75, 117 West 48th St., New York City 36, N.Y.

"The activities in today's house are more varied and complex than ever before. Instead of dividing the house into a series of separate rooms for each activity, the open plan has evolved whereby spaces flow together, giving an effect of largeness and erasing any feeling of confinement.

Privacy is Created

"However, there are occasions when it is desirable to close up some of these spaces for the purpose of privacy. Yet to have the spaces permanently closed would create a tight and inflexible plan. Here is where the folding partition serves a very substantial purpose."

There are any number of uses to which folding partitions may be put. Paul lists the following as some of their major uses:

A dining room which may merge with the living room, could be closed off for short periods when dishes are being removed or the table is being set.

In the case of a den or a television room adjacent to the living room, a whole wall may be opened up for entertainment purposes. Closed, it enables the family to look at television without interfering with living room activities.

One of the most convenient spots for the folding partition perhaps is between the family room and its adjacent spaces, whether they be the kitchen, the living room or the foyer.

Opened for Youngsters

When the teen-agers are entertaining in this area, it is desirable to have it closed off. But when the younger children are playing here, it should be opened for full view so that supervision is made easy.

An ideal arrangement perhaps for the folding partition is its use as a closet front. In this way, it not only conserves space but it also gives complete access to the closet.

Used as a closet front, a folding partition can conveniently extend from floor to ceiling and from door jamb to door jamb, thereby saving a great deal of the usual framing.

"Although the folding partition is a step forward towards a more flexible design," Paul says, "it is anticipated that we will advance even further in that direction. In addition to spaces being opened up to each other, partitions will be movable as well as folding—thereby adjusting the sizes of all rooms to one's particular needs."

Success of Garden Depends To Great Extent on Location

Vegetable gardening success depends upon more than enthusiasm and a dream of next autumn's harvest. A sunny location, better-than-average soil, a well-conceived plan, and lot of hard work are necessary.

The garden must be placed where it gets plenty of sunshine because it's the sun that makes the vegetables grow. To avoid competition from tree roots keep the garden beyond the spread of the branches, even though the tree casts no shade on your side. Since quick drainage is necessary do not garden in ground that remains wet for two or three days after a rain.

Vegetables grow best when soil conditions are favorable. Rich deep topsoil is ideal and almost as important as sunshine. Because few backyards have good soil you must make the most of what you have. The best soil is always on the top and unless the layer is at least four inches deep the vegetable plants will lack nourishment.

AGRICULTURAL LIME, at the rate of 5 to 7 pounds per 100 square feet of area, should be spread over and worked well into the soil. Lime furnishes calcium which is needed for root development and for formation of protoplasm and proteins.

Commercial fertilizer with a 4-12-4, 5-10-5, 6-10-4 or similar analysis should be thoroughly mixed with the soil prior to planting or sowing of seed. Apply fertilizer at the rate of 2 1/2-3 1/2 pounds per 100 square feet.

Never dig or plow or cultivate when the soil is too wet or too dry, since this will make the soil lumpy.

The beginner should plant his garden no larger than can be easily maintained and plant only the vegetables that his family likes best. Plan to grow a succession of crops. It is the only way to a steady supply of fresh vegetables.

GENERALLY SPEAKING the annual vegetables, listed in All-America Selections, are easier to grow and require less attention than the perennials, such as asparagus and rhubarb.

A point to remember is that for many areas in the nation it is better to buy plants of cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, peppers, tomatoes, onions and okra, since the growing season in most areas is not long enough for these vegetables to mature from seeds sown outdoors.

Buy and sow your seeds with care, and remember that good seeds will give you more and healthier plants than cheap seeds. Do not hesitate over the relative quality of one reputable brand over another, as All-America selections seeds are uniform in quality and handled only by the better distributors.

Nose Cone

when a four-foot nose cone was retrieved from the sea.

This is the same Jupiter the Defense Department ordered the Army to drop last December. Later, however, it was decided that the Army should continue with development and production of the weapon.

Most details of the missile's latest performance are classified. But it was reported unofficially that the Jupiter was fired at a range of just over 1,600 miles.

The launching ran like clockwork. The 69-foot missile lifted away with a mighty roar and billows of white flame.

It was seen as a tiny yellow dot in the sky for almost three minutes. Then engine burnout occurred and the rocket began its free flight through space.

Rioting

It was there that rioting first broke out 10 days ago and the U.S. information library in the port was sacked. Since then, as trouble spread over the country, an estimated 150 to 200 persons have been killed in pitched battles, bombings, sniping and riots.

The United States over the weekend flew 18 huge Globemaster troop and cargo carriers to Europe, where they could be used to ferry arms to the Middle East or to evacuate Americans from Lebanon. An Air Force spokesman at Frankfurt, Germany, said there were no orders for the plane yet.

Hays said he has received only one complaint—a telephone call from a Washington woman who thought his criticisms undignified—but a number of commendations in letters from around the country.

It is Hays' contention that U.S. money to Trujillo's Dominican Republic should be shut off. He notes that the $600,000 the country got last year equals the spending allowance Gen. Trujillo Jr. has been throwing around while in military training in this country.

Some of that allowance has been spent on a fur coat and fancy foreign sports car for Zsa Zsa. Hays, on the House floor, said the blonde beauty is "apparently the most expensive courtesan since Mme. de Pompadour."

A man in Sacramento, Calif., wrote Hays: "What a headline! Rocks thrown by angry South Americans at Nixon: Trujillo throwing American dollars at glamorous stars."

"It gets a bit sickening when I see my very industrious, nose-to-the-grindstone husband shelling out taxes to the government," a woman in Castle Rock, Colo., wrote.

A woman in Los Angeles said she thinks it shameful the treatment Nixon was given on his recent South American tour.

"But we have not been doing right by the South Americans," she went on. "Backing up dictators like Trujillo and Peron (ex-dictator of Argentina) isn't going to make good relations—that's for sure."

A man in Montevallo, Ala. noted: "Trujillo is just a ruthless dictator, and his sons share his views. A true, freedom-loving country would not train his son so that he can go back and help his father cow the people of the Dominican Republic."

"These people face hardship and suffering by their families. They face fear for the future and they look forward to the embarrassment in many instances of being compelled to seek direct relief."

"I'm going to act to protect them and allay their fears."

Has Reserve Funds

"Ohio has a reserve of $543 million in the unemployment compensation fund. Now is the time to make use of these reserve funds. This is the time and purpose for which the funds have been reserved."

"I'm going to request the Legislature to extend the duration of unemployment compensation benefits by 50 per cent of the present 26 weeks' maximum."

"I'm going to take this action although there is now pending a bill in Congress which it appears will pass to provide for this by the federal government."

"I'm opposed to borrowing funds from the federal government for unemployment compensation for several reasons:

"First, the federal government has no funds from which to lend and must itself borrow money, thereby increasing the national debt and amount of interest our people must pay."

"Second, federal borrowing is a step toward federal control of the unemployment compensation program."

"Third, if Ohio accepts federal funds for this, Ohio can expect federal interference in the unemployment compensation program."

Fourth, the state has and can retain an insurance principle while the federal system may soon degenerate into a federal dole."

"Fifth, the state can do a better job for its workers in this field and the state can do a more economical job for its citizens in this field."

The governor would not say whether a bill to legalize the payment of supplementary unemployment compensation benefits would be one of the other matters the special session would consider. He would not comment one way or another on how he would receive such a bill.

The governor conceded that extending benefits for 13 weeks will probably increase the rate at which some companies must contribute to the state fund.

Rep. Hays' Blast At Trujillo Brings Favorable Replies

WASHINGTON — Judging from his mail, Americans are cheering Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D Ohio) for his blasts against the son of dictator Rafael Trujillo and actress Zsa Zsa Gabor.

Hays said he has received only one complaint—a telephone call from a Washington woman who thought his criticisms undignified—but a number of commendations in letters from around the country.

It is Hays' contention that U.S. money to Trujillo's Dominican Republic should be shut off. He notes that the $600,000 the country got last year equals the spending allowance Gen. Trujillo Jr. has been throwing around while in military training in this country.

Some of that allowance has been spent on a fur coat and fancy foreign sports car for Zsa Zsa. Hays, on the House floor, said the blonde beauty is "apparently the most expensive courtesan since Mme. de Pompadour."

A man in Sacramento, Calif., wrote Hays: "What a headline! Rocks thrown by angry South Americans at Nixon: Trujillo throwing American dollars at glamorous stars."

"It gets a bit sickening when I see my very industrious, nose-to-the-grindstone husband shelling out taxes to the government," a woman in Castle Rock, Colo., wrote.

A woman in Los Angeles said she thinks it shameful the treatment Nixon was given on his recent South American tour.

"But we have not been doing right by the South Americans," she went on. "Backing up dictators like Trujillo and Peron (ex-dictator of Argentina) isn't going to make good relations—that's for sure."

De Gaulle

"The population of Algeria sees in Paris crisis upon crisis. How does one avoid rebellion in this population of Algeria? The population of Algeria is looking somewhere else, outside the parliamentary combination, for a way to end its troubles."

"In these conditions, the army, which was able to see this feeling, prevented disorder. The army has acted."

He said the army sees the "mediocrity" which prevails.

"I understand perfectly well the attitude . . . of the high command in Algeria," he said.

Trujillo Says Spending Not From U.S. Funds

LOS ANGELES — Gift-giving Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. says not one penny of his expenditures in this country came from U.S. foreign aid funds to his native Dominican Republic.

It was his first direct public comment on his widely discussed gifts of a $5,400 sports car to actress Kim Novak and a $10,000 strand of diamonds to actress Joan Collins.

The Dominican Embassy in Washington said last week the U.S. government has sent no money but has sent a limited amount of military equipment to the Dominican Republic. The elder Trujillo told an interviewer Saturday in Ciudad Trujillo, "He is spending his own money."

"The Accounting" by Bruce Marshall. The auditors of a French banking house start a feverish search for falsified records after a drunken employee starts bragging about having embezzled large sums from the bank.

"The Angry Land" by Frank Bass. A western adventure with psychological overtones.

"The Bankrupts," by Brian Glanville. Rosemary had to decide between the successful business man that her parents wanted her to marry, and the impecunious scholar with whom she had fallen in love.

"Daybreak," by Frank Slaughter. Dr. Jim Corwin had a more than professional interest in mental illness because his wife had killed herself. Now, on the staff of a state hospital, he was fighting desperately to restore the sanity of lovely Lynn Thornton.

Report Cites High Cost of Ohio Plans For Road Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government accountants reported today that federal officials once rejected Ohio's plans for its new roads program as too costly — then reversed themselves and went along.

Ohio's design standards, they said in a report to Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), were considerably higher than those used by the state before March 1957, and as such were rejected by the Bureau of Public Roads.

But in early April of that year, their report went on, representatives of the Ohio Department of Highways talked it over with the federal highway administrator and other bureau officials.

At this meeting, the report said, the new standards were approved subject to certain modifications.

"In our discussion of this matter with the administrator," the accountants said, "he stated that in his judgment the revised standards of Ohio were the proper standards for use on the interstate system in that state."

The events were described in a cost study of the new roads program in 11 states. The study was issued by the comptroller general and the findings given Gore, who is chairman of the Senate Roads Subcommittee.

Gore called a meeting of his subcommittee for Tuesday to consider the report and decide on future action.

Here are some of the things the report had to say about Ohio:

Utility Relocation
"In Ohio certain of the consulting engineers engaged by the state and some state engineers omitted all costs for utility relocations . . .

"We noted that no costs were included in the Ohio estimate for utility relocations in the Cleveland and Columbus urban areas, where as $2,300,000 dollars was included for the Toledo urban area."

"State officials informed us that this was undoubtedly an oversight."

Standards on Gradients
"Bureau (of Roads) review of the final design of a 2.14-mile section . . .

Seeking Pennsylvania Nomination

Expected Light Primary Vote To Favor Stassen's Opponent

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The prospect of a light vote may hamper Harold Stassen's chances of winning the Republican nomination for governor on an independent ticket in Pennsylvania's primary election Tuesday.

A light vote in a Pennsylvania primary traditionally favors candidates backed by state political organizations.

Stassen is running against the Republican organization candidate, Arthur T. McGonigle of Reading, head of one of the largest pretzel firms in the country.

William S. Livengood Jr., former state secretary of internal affairs, also is making an independent bid for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence, 68, is the Democratic organization candidate for governor. His chief opposition is Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman, running on an independent ticket.

Rep. Hugh Scott (R) of Philadelphia is running with McGonigle for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by the retirement of Sen. Edward Martin (R) next January.

Weldon B. Heyburn, former state auditor general, is Stassen's running mate for the Senate. Heyburn has been inactive since he suffered a slight stroke at the beginning of the campaign. Livengood is running alone.

Gov. George Leader is the Democratic state party choice for the Senate nomination. Clarence P. Bowers, Reading battery manufacturer, is opposing him on the Furman ticket.

Stassen, 51, was governor of Minnesota three times. An issue during a listless campaign has been his Pennsylvania residence. He also was President Eisenhower's disarmament aide and in 1956 he strongly opposed Vice President Nixon's bid for renomination at the Republican National Convention.

The state GOP leadership looks favorably on Nixon as a 1960 presidential candidate and a Republican governor would wield great influence over the direction the Pennsylvania delegation takes in 1960.
